

Greetings from

FIREBALL

Island

Take a final plunge
at the end of Viper Pass.

A look at Viper Pass...

Lush greenery. Exotic wildlife. A life-saving dock to leap from. Every year, thousands visit us, drawn by the beauty of our native flora and fauna. Most visit Viper Pass. Many return home to tell tales of its beauty. If your bucket list includes a 48-hour fever, cracked-rib coughing, or even just “How loud can I scream?” then make sure you leave time for this charming stretch. The origins of the name Viper Pass are lost to history. Some say it comes from a native word, Vi-Pur, meaning “land of bounty”, while others surmise it comes from the thousands of deadly snakes that live inches from the path. But no matter its name, one visit will make you realize the phrase “paper cuts are the worst” is absolutely wrong.

restorationgames.com/fireball-island